

THE CRUELLEST GOODBYE

Two souls once connected
So close, but apart
A dream has been wasted

Worship, blinded

The promise is broken
by hallowed beliefs
restrained the devotion

Vicious, madness

How can they let it all go?
Even knowing
And while they're losing control
The distance's growing
Too weak to decide
The roses will die
It's the cruellest goodbye

The words are all useless
They're screaming in vain
Remember the first kiss

Vanished, wiped out
Sacred, Sadness

How can they let it all go?
Even knowing
And while they're losing control
The distance's growing
Too weak to decide
The roses will die
It's the cruellest goodbye

Fear is dividing
Courage is hiding,
Where did it get lost?
Who wrote the rules
killed the love

How can they let it all go?
Even knowing
And while they're losing control
The distance's growing
Too weak to decide
The roses will die
It's the cruellest goodbye

It's the cruellest goodbye